

What are we learning this week!

This week we will be heading off to the North and South Pole becoming explorers, we will talk about what the locals wear and how they stay warm. What animals we might find at the North and South Pole.

On Friday we will be celebrating Chinese New year looking at the traditions and customs, making some lanterns and tasting Chinese food. If you wish to dress up in red you are welcome to, as this is a lucky colour for the Chinese celebration.

In literacy we will be mark making animals from the North and South Pole, Looking at books to help us find the animals.

EAD we will be getting creative with our Rooster making.

In maths we will be beginning to represent numbers using our fingers in the snow. Making snowflake patterns to represent the number drawn.

In K UW - We will be looking at different ways of life how people live in the North and South Pole, How we celebrate different traditions, what we might do!
